V.	The scope of the refusal:
	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Provisional refusal for all services
	<input type="checkbox"/> Provisional partial refusal for some of the goods and/ or services
VI.	Grounds for refusal:
	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Absolute grounds: Trademark Act Section 14 - The trademark is considered to be devoid of any distinctive character and/or it can be used in trade to designate the services in question. It describes a significant characteristic of the services claimed, and is also unable to distinguish the services of the holder from those of others. The mark consists of the term MEDBUYONLINE. MED is an abbreviation for «medicine» or «medical», BUY is «an act of purchasing something» and ONLINE is defined as «by means of the Internet or other computer network». Thus, it indicates the kind of the services, namely that the services are rendered with regard to an online shop in the medical sector or are closely related to it. Since the mark as a whole immediately and directly conveys essential characteristics and kind of the services claimed, it does not fulfil the essential function of trademark, namely to distinguish the services of the holder from those of others. For the reasons set out above it must be refused.
