V. The scope of the refusal:

☐ Provisional partial refusal for some of the goods and/ or services

VI. Grounds for refusal:

☒ Absolute grounds: Trademark Act Section 14 - The trademark is considered to be devoid of any distinctive character and/or it can be used in trade to designate the goods in question. It consists of signs or indications, which may serve to describe significant characteristics of the goods claimed in the international registration. The mark consists of a simple figurative image of one half of a blade and the word STOP placed within a square. It is not likely that the average consumer will perceive the mark as a badge of origin, but rather as a warning sign of caution when dealing with e.g «circular saws». Thus, the mark merely indicates the kind, quality and intended purpose of the goods claimed. Consequently, the mark must be refused.
