X. Corresponding essential provisions of the applicable law:

Section 7. Earlier Trade Mark as a Relative Ground for Invalidation of Trade Mark Registration

(1) A trade mark registration may be declared invalid if:

- 1) it is identical with an earlier trade mark, and the goods or services for which the trade mark is registered are identical to the goods or services for which the earlier trade mark is registered;
- 2) due to its identity with, or similarity to, the earlier trade mark belonging to another person and the identity or similarity of the respective goods or services, there exists a likelihood of confusion of the trade marks or a likelihood of association between the trade marks on behalf of the relevant consumers.

(2) Earlier trade marks within the meaning of the Paragraph one of this Section is:

- 1) trade mark registered in Latvia under national or international registration procedures, or as European Union trade marks if the date of application for registration thereof is earlier than the date of application for registration of the contested trade mark, also taking into account the priority accorded to those trade marks;
- 2) The European Union trade mark with a later filing date, but with a seniority date which is earlier than the date of application for registration of the contested mark, if the seniority of a trade mark registered in Latvia or registered internationally and extended to Latvia is validly claimed, even when the latter trade mark has been surrendered or allowed to lapse;
- 3) applications for the registration of trade marks referred to in the Paragraph 1 and 2 of this Section, provided that they are registered.
